What are the reasons J S White & Co collects Personal Data?

Legal Obligations

J S White & Co uses personal data firstly to fulfil any contractual obligations that exist between us and yourself. Where we request personal data be provided to enter into, or meet the terms of any such contract, you will be required to provide the relevant personal data or we will not be able to deliver the goods or services you want. In such cases the lawful basis of us processing the personal data is that it is necessary for the performance of a contract.

We are required by law to process personal data for purposes relating to our legal obligations, these include:

To provide for our financial commitments, or to relevant financial authorities.

To comply with regulatory requirements and any self-regulatory schemes.

To carry out required business operations and due diligence.

To cooperate with relevant authorities for reporting criminal activity, or to detect and prevent fraud.

To investigate any insurance claims, claims of any kind of harassment or of discrimination, or any other claim whereby the organisation may have to defend itself.

Legitimate Interests

J S White & Co may process Personal Data for any of the following purposes, which are considered to be within our legitimate business interests:

To provide goods and services where it has been requested,

To improve the quality of the services we offer, and to better understand customers' needs by requesting feedback, or reviews of the services provided, or sending survey forms,

To send notifications of any changes to the goods and/or services provided that may affect people,

- To recognise when people re-engage with our organisation,
- To allow the organisation to support and maintain our products in active service,
- To provide reference information to third party organisations when necessary,
- To improve the organisations website so content is delivered more efficiently,
- To enhance the security measures in place that protect data we are responsible for,
- To protect the organisations assets

Where does J S White & Co obtain Personal Data from?

We will collect personal data directly from you in various ways. This could include when you complete an online form, or if you provide the data directly to a representative of J S White & Co.

We may also gather personal data by any of the following methods:

From technical functionality that gathers data automatically from computer equipment when people visit our online platforms.

All information is gathered from the clients themselves.

Who will J S White & Co share your Personal Data with?

To achieve the above stated purposes for which we process your personal data, we may have to share your personal data with certain third parties.

We shall make all reasonable efforts to ensure that any third-party we share your personal data with is also compliant with data protection law.

The kinds of third parties we may share your personal data with include:

Organisations where it is necessary to setup various resources.

The specific types of third-party J S White & Co may share your personal data with include:

Mortgage Advisors	Mortgage required, proof of earnings.
-------------------	---------------------------------------

Where will J S White & Co store your Personal Data?

J S White & Co will not transfer your personal data to any country other than those that have been granted an adequacy decision under the General Data Protection Regulation.

We may however share your personal data with third-party organisations who then transfer the data. We shall take all reasonable measures to ensure those third parties are also compliant with data protection law.

How long will J S White & Co keep your Personal Data?

We will keep your personal data only for as long as required to achieve the purposes for which it was collected, in line with this privacy notice.

The following criteria are what determine the period for which we will keep your personal data:

Until we are no longer required to do so to comply with regulatory requirements or financial obligations.

Until we are no longer required to do so by any law we are subject to.

Until all purposes for which the data was originally gathered have become irrelevant or obsolete.

Until it has been requested that we no longer process the data and that it is erased; in some cases, where there is a remaining relevant or legal reason why we are required to keep this data, we may opt to restrict the amount of processing being conducted to what is absolute necessary rather than erase it.

Data is retained in line with HMRC ruling.

Your Rights, Our Responsibility

There are several rights granted to you immediately upon providing us with your personal information; some of these are mentioned above. We'd like you to know that at J S White & Co we take your rights seriously and will always conduct ourselves in a way that is considerate of our responsibility to serve your legal rights.

The Right of Access

This grants you the right to confirm whether or not your personal data is being processed, and to be provided with relevant details of what those processing operations are and what personal data of yours is being processed.

If you would like access to the personal data we have about you, we ask that you contact us using the details below.

The Right to Rectification

This one is fairly straight forward; if you notice that the data we have about you is inaccurate or incomplete, you may request we rectify the mistake. We will make every effort to respond to requests of this type immediately.

The Right to Erasure

Otherwise known as the 'right to be forgotten', this gives you the right to request your personal data be deleted.

This is not an absolute right; if you were to request that we erase your personal data, we would erase as much of that data as we could but may have to retain some information if it is necessary.

Were we have received a request for personal data to be erased, if it is necessary for us to retain some of that information we shall ensure that the remaining data is used only when and where it is absolutely necessary.

The Right to Objection

The right to object is a basic freedom all democracies enjoy. If you wish to object to the way we use, or have used, your personal data you may do so freely.

The Right to Complain

We will always try to maintain the highest standards and encourage the confidence our customers have in us as an organisation. To achieve this, we request that any complaints be first brought to our attention so we can properly investigate matters. If you would like to complain about J S White & Co to a regulatory body, you may do so by contacting your local data protection supervisory authority.
